EAT SHEET

MICHELIN CRED

The six seasoned chefs participating at Haute Cuisine in Bal Harbour Village have a combined nine Michelin stars between them, so good taste will not be in short supply at the four-day culinary event. On the agenda: a fashion-themed dinner at Le Zoo crafted by Jacques Pourcel, Thierry Drapeau and Alain Caron; a design-focused supper at Oceana Bal Harbour from Sergi Arola, Joel Cesari and Jean-Baptiste Natali; a dinner paired with music from Natali, Pourcel and Drapeau; and a gala featuring a collaborative menu from all chefs. Bon appétit! May 8-11, balharbourflorida.com/hautecuisine —LRR

BIZ UPDATE

LASHING OUT

Local Katy Stoka disrupted the beauty industry in all the right ways a few years back when she introduced the world to her One Two Lash (onetwocosmetics.com), a patented metallic wonder that requires no glue to apply. As of May, her top-selling Natural Accent and Natural Half styles, as well as the new Bold Half model (all of which retail for $59), will be available at 152 Sephora (sephora.com) stores in the United States and Canada. Eye of the tiger, indeed. —LRR

One Two Lash is now available at Sephora.

NUMBER CRUNCH

2022

It's official. Three years from now, the ArtCenter/South Florida will have a new 50,000-square-foot home at 75 NW 72nd St. in Miami, a move that will allow the organization to expand its artist residences and provide local artists not just with exhibition space, but also a theater and classrooms for more than 200 annual classes. Also new will be the venue's name: Oolite Arts (oolitearts.org), a moniker that nods to Miami's ecosystem and reflects the center's local roots and mission. —LRR

FRAGRANCE FINESSE

EAU MIAMI

Miami continues to inspire creatives in the sexiest of ways. The latest one to take the leap is perfumer Clive Christian (clivechristian.com), who has released two new fragrances that allude to the city as part of the brand's The Art of Travel collection. Miami Beach is an aquatic floral with notes of neroli, while Miami Poolside alludes to a refreshing mojito with a crunch of citrus-infused watermelon. Both smell like winners to us! —LRR
